Foreword

1965

As we leave Bourne High,
let us look back
at the activities,
and organizations which have helped to make our four years here successful.

Perhaps
at a future date
when we pick up this book
it will bring back pleasant memories and thus serve as a connecting link with the past,
filled with pleasures
and a rich heritage.

We,
the graduating class of 1965,
have worked,
we have learned,
we have played,
but most of all we have grown,
grown in character,
grown in stature,
and grown in wisdom.
We have become a part of something great
—BOURNE HIGH SCHOOL.

ANDREW M. LAUGHTON

Yearbook Dedication

Andrew M. Laughton, who is now serving as Principal of Otis Junior High School, was a friend to us all. During the years that he was here, we all grew to respect him very highly.

Mr. Laughton came to the Bourne School System in 1952. He first served as a commercial course teacher. Then in 1961 he assumed the position of Assistant Principal.

Aside from the many duties of Assistant Principal, Mr. Laughton devoted much time to other activities such as the sports program, and class activities. He also could be depended upon to lend a helping hand where he was needed.

We all have missed him here at Bourne High, and want to wish him the best in the years to come.

For these reasons we dedicate to Mr. Laughton the 1965 Canal Currents.

"And they expect 7th graders to do these problems?"

"I love to add up these demerits."

Success . . .
The faculty at Bourne High,
by dedicating their time and efforts to the aid of the individual students, contributed to the maintaining of the successful reputation of our school.
Participating not only in the classroom but also on the extra-curricular level, the members of the faculty have succeeded in becoming to the students more than "just" teachers.
They appear as our mentors,
our counselors,
our friends.

Superintendent's Message

A modern skyscraper must rest securely on all four corners. Huge blocks of stone and concrete are set deep in the ground beneath the structure. All this must be done before the building is erected, and must be a part of the plan. It is extremely difficult, if not impossible, to strengthen the foundations afterward.

All during your high school days you are laying the corner stones for your lives. Whether you realize it or not, the foundation upon which your life structure is to rest, is being built. Each habit is a foundation stone, and by constant repetition you cement them into place. Upon these habits you build your lives like the walls of a building. You cannot build a wall where there is no foundation.

Top and Tops

Assistant Superintendent's Message

My sincerest congratulations to the members of the class of 1965. You have now successfully completed twelve years of education and a milestone in your lives has been reached. However, a high school graduation does not signify the end of your educational life for education is an integral part of life itself. On a formal or informal basis, it will continue throughout your life.

It is our hope that during the time you have been with us that we have given you a solid educational foundation and provided you with a basis for continuing your education in the future. It has been our privilege to have had the opportunity to work with you during the past years. We hope you will return and visit us in the years to come.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

The title of Henryk Sienkiewic's book "Quo Vadis" bids us pause. Where am I going? What do I desire from life? How will I achieve it? Just who am I? The procrastination of youth in the formative years of school only postpones for them the ultimate answers to these important queries. The experience of life in all its facets—the quest for knowledge, the desire to excel, the development of fundamental character and faith as well as of body, the honest curiosity in things about us hastens the time of life's fulfillment and the happiness which consequently accrues. It behooves us, therefore, to begin to shape our lives as early as possible, even now, and to direct ourselves toward our goals. No substitute as yet has been found for the accumulation of knowledge as a basis upon which to think and act. From the well of reading, study, and reflective thought come the riches of self discovery and life's offerings.

MR. WILBUR'S MESSAGE TO THE YEARBOOK:

On many occasions many years from now you will open this book and recall past events from past years. To quote a phrase from Dickens' A Tale of Two Cities:

> "It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the season of Light, it was the season of Darkness . . ."

Just how useful and purposeful your learning has been in the past will only be revealed by your performances in the future.

GUIDANCE

This was a busy year for the guidance department at Bourne High. Mr. John Gray and Mr. Louis Ciolkowski had a large job on their hands as the number of students entering Bourne High soared to a new high this year. As a result of their hard work, many seniors will be happier in college next year, and the underclassmen will not be as bewildered in their search of new studies.

BUSINESS OFFICE

Alexander Consoni
Business Manager

Behind the scenes, the functioning of Bourne High is carried on in the very busy business office. The responsibilities of Alex Consoni, the Business Manager of the Bourne School District, are many. It is his responsibility to see that the cafeteria is adequately stocked, that the buses are properly conditioned, and that we have the best school equipment. We really don't know what we'd do without the people in the Business Office.

Dorothy Holland

SECRETARIAL STAFF

Stella Dvorski

Jane Pederzani

Mrs. Dvorski, assigned to the main office, is one of the most familiar faces around Bourne. Just across the hall from her in the guidance office, is Miss Pederzani, a graduate of Bourne's class of '63. In the business office Miss Mohre and Mrs. Holland keep things in order for Mr. Brown, Mr. Campbell, and Mr. Consoni. They are an essential part of the complex "motor" which runs the high school smoothly and efficiently.

The Bourne High Dispatch, published by the Senior journalism class under the supervision of Miss Anderson, in recent years has proved to be an integral part of BHS and a credit to the English department.

LANGUAGES

Interested in foreign languages? Bourne High provides a varied choice of ancient, romantic, and modern languages. Mr. Kenneth Lagerstedt, the department head, and Mr. Heinrick Sirutschek taught German. Mr. James Brogioli and Mr. Arthur Lynch provided lessons in Latin and Miss Carol Neiter instructed her students in the art of speaking French. One of the more modern methods of teaching a language has been establishd here at Bourne. The language lab provides a method of improving diction and is also unusually interesting to the students.

MATHEMATICS

The Mathematics Department offers new modern courses to students wishing further advancement in the field of mathematics and engineering. Because of the staff's continual study of new subjects, materials and methods of instruction, students in the business section are also being introduced to modern mathematics courses. These improvements have advanced the mathematical minds of all Bourne students.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The Social Studies Department at Bourne High offers a wide variety of subject matter designed to help students better understand the world in which they live. The Social Studies Department feels that the mere teaching of the subjects is not enough, but that experience and actual observation of government in action is essential. This belief is emphasized by field trips to such places as the Massachusetts State House, Barnstable County Court House, and the United Nations Building.

BUSINESS

"Tell me, now when did these headaches begin?"

Students interested in business are taught by an excellent staff under the direction of Mrs. Williams. A few of the subjects available to the business-minded students are these: Bookkeeping, Law, Recordkeeping, Advertising, Typing, and Office Practice. When these students graduate from Bourne High, they will be well-trained in the essentials of the business field.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The teachers in shop put their students to work on useful items for the school. Some of their carpentry and metal work has been on display at various times in the main foyer. They are very helpful in building and assembling the scenery for the senior play every year. In December they erected a "mitten tree" for the Code Club. Each year at Christmas they reassemble the manger scene at St. Margaret's church in Buzzards Bay. They also built picnic tables for rest areas around the town.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Under the direction of Mr. Knute Anderson, director of physical education in the Bourne school system, Bourne High's able physical education instructors, Mr. Babbitt and Mrs. Sullivan taught the boys and girls the fundamentals of gymnastics, volleyball, and basketball. This year, to the delight of both boys and girls alike, there were a few occasions when the two gym classes participated in games of co-ed volleyball.

Mrs. Kanellopoulas works with the students daily trying to develop their reading skills and improve their reading speed. She is equipped with modern skill builders, such as the controlled reader. After the students have perfected their reading, you can usually find them browsing through the columns of books in the school library. Mrs. Mayhew is always there to guide students to the right shelves and to instruct them in the correct use of the readers guides, encyclopedias, and other library aides.

Mr. Robert Frazier, director of the Shawme Band and of the Junior-Senior and Freshman-Sophomore choruses, is the supervisor of music in the Bourne School System. This year Mr. Frazier introduced instrumental and vocal music lessons at an advanced level for high school students. These lessons helped greatly to further the musical knowledge and performances of the band and chorus and made these organizations an essential part of Bourne High at school, local, and out-of-town performances.

NON-TEACHING PERSONNEL

The students of Bourne High are deeply indebted to the non-teaching personnel, the people behind the scenes, who keep the school functioning.

Mrs. Zlogar, the school nurse, is always ready to administer medical assistance to the students.

The cafeteria staff, under the able direction of Mrs. Ann Harrington, prepare wholesome meals that keep the students and the faculty alert and healthy.

The custodial staff keeps our school clean and nice-looking as well as always being prepared to remedy any sudden crisis.

ALMA MATER

From elm trees tall,
soft shadows fall,
And speak to us of Bourne High
Loud voices raise in songs of praise
For our dear old Bourne High
Remember all the friendships made,
And memories that ne'er will fade,
Through your ideals we'll reach our goal;
Bourne High, dear Bourne High.

And when from your loved doors we go,
We'll go with pride because we know
Within your walls, the lessons gained,
Will help us all our goals attain.
When we return in later years,
From far and wide we'll gather here,
And sing our praise for all to hear;
Bourne High, dear Bourne High.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '65

As we now reflect our high school years, we realize how eventful they have been. We began those past four busy years in September of 1961 as the underprivileged and overpowered "frosh". Our first important task was to choose our class leaders. For that first slate of officers we chose Dana Ricker, president; Eileen Clinton, vice-president; Beth Moreland, secretary; and Steve Owens, treasurer. Also elected to represent our class were student council members Peter Feliceamgeli, Connie Poff, and Linda Scott. Guided by this responsible leadership and that of Mr. Clifford Wilbur, our class advisor, our first class project, a magazine drive, proved to be very prosperous. The much welcomed funds raised by this project established a substantial treasury which we could draw from for the many class affairs in the years to follow.

In September of '62, although still underclassmen, we took on somewhat more self confidence as second year veterans. Once again we elected our class officers: Bill Ehmann, president; Mary Sweeney, vice-president; Nancy Yates, secretary; and Kathie Burns, treasurer. Student council members were Mal Kiniry, Pat Crowley, Kathie Burns, and Gary Shoemaker. We soon found ourselves busy planning our sophomore Halloween dance, the "Sophomore Spook." With the assistance of Mr. James Hamlen, our class advisor, we chose committees which worked diligently to make the dance a success.

As juniors in the year '63 we proudly assumed the title "upperclassmen". With this new feeling of prestige we began a year marked with many memorable occasions. This time the leaders of our class were Bill Ehmann, president; Mike Cahoon, vice president; Angela Prete, secretary; and Anne Goulart, treasurer. Chosen as student council representatives were Mal Kiniry, Pat Crowley, Dana Ricker, Kathie Burns, and Myra Kullowatz. Soon we were seen in the corridors proudly flashing our newly received class rings. Adding further excitement early in the year was the "Powder Puff" football game, which, much to our dismay, saw the seniors emerge victorious. On November 22, 1963, we learned, with sadness, the shocking and tragic news of the death of our President, John F. Kennedy. This news left us with a feeling of emptiness; we knew we had lost a great man. Late in January we focused our minds on happier thoughts —plans for the junior prom. Committees were elected and the theme "Oriental Gardens" was chosen. Under the supervision of Anne Goulart, our diligent chairman, sweatshirt clad students changed the gym slowly but surely into an exotic wonderland. Crowned as queen on the lodis-blossom-shaped throne was Mary Sweeney, attended by her lovely court. At the close of our junior year we watched the class of '64 graduate, led by our Class Marshals, "Romi" Stark and Mary Sweeney. With mixed emotions we realized that we were next.

Entering the familiar halls for what was to be our last year, we were determined to make it our best year. Little did we know how successful we would be! We elected to our last slate of officers Dana Ricker, president; Pat Crowley, vice-president; Mary Sweeney, secretary; and Nancy Cameron, treasurer. Student council members were Mal Kiniry, president; Pat Crowley, vice-president; Dana Ricker; Mo Tibble; and Sandy Parker. Once again everyone shared the excitement of the "Powder Puff" football game which this time proved more in our favor as our class emerged the winner. Another triumph was winning the title "Most School Spirited Class" in a contest sponsored by the cheerleaders. Our opportunity to employ this enthusiasm came in the pre-Thanksgiving Day game activities — the traditional pep rally and bon fire. These "spirit boosters" proved worthwhile when the impressive victory over Wareham by our undefeated football team made that "Turkey Day" one we will never forget. To complete the traditional Thanksgiving Day games festivities, the Honor Society sponsored the Homecoming Dance. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the lovely queen, Nancy Yates, by football co-captain Jeff Futch.

As our high school years neared an end several senior celebrations made those last weeks ones to remember. On graduation night, with feelings of joy as well as sadness, we marched to "Pomp and Circumstance" still unable and somewhat unwilling to believe "it was over".

CLASS REPORT

This year's juniors faced the common problem of raising funds for their prom. The election of class officers, with Jeff Govoni at the helm, gave the juniors the leadership needed to guide them through to June 18th. Their main complaint for the year was "senior privileges" and in general the pushy seniors. "After all," they said, "we've worked 3 years at this and should have a cafeteria table of our own too!!" Wait till next year, dearies!! Signed, Your Superior Cohorts.

CLASS REPORT

The class of 1967 found great joy in not being the youngest class at Bourne—for a change they had a class below them who they could look down upon. Late September the class performed their first official act—the election of class officers. Chosen as the class leaders were Bob Gondolfi, president, Jim Newell, vice-president, Sharon Delaware, secretary, and Linda Colgan, treasurer. The class sponsored a Valentine's Dance in February which featured the Excels. Hoping to have enough money to carry them through to their junior year and the Prom, the sophomore class hopes to sponsor many more activities during the coming months.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

OFFICERS
B. Parker (Treas.), G. Harding (Sec.), P. Sweeney (Pres.), B. Gray (V. P.)

CLASS REPORT

The Class of 1968 entered Bourne High for the first time in September. After the usual orientation period of getting used to high school and their new studies the Frosh set themselves to their first order of business—electing class officers. After a vigorous campaign Pat Sweeney, Bob Gray, Gail Harding, and Bruce Parker were elected to the offices of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer.

A very successful magazine drive provided over $1,000 for their treasury.

The Freshmen now have three more years left at Bourne High and are anxiously waiting for the time when they will be upperclassmen.

CANEL CURRENTS

The entire staff of the yearbook was chosen last spring and began work immediately after school last fall. This year the CANAL CURRENTS staff was headed by co-editors Carol Kim and Bob Parody.

Mr. Read, our advisor, proved to be the center of yearbook activity as frantic editors rushed up to him between classes, during lunch, and after school demanding quick solutions to major and minor problems. Many mistakes were made, but the lessons learned from them made each new task seem easier.

The various editors worked on their individual sections faithfully to meet every deadline. Unsuspecting underclassmen walking by the publications room after school were often beseeched to identify pictures of fellow classmates, whose faces were unknown to staff members.

Early in the fall, many students visited homerooms to take subscriptions while others went out to various businesses in the town in hopes of persuading them to contribute to the cost of the yearbook and receive advertising space.

As spring approached the busy staff members frantically hurried to meet the final deadline. Notices were sent to homerooms informing students, parents, and other interested people that any contribution they made to the yearbook would be gratefully acknowledged and the contributor's name would appear on a list entitled "Patrons".

Throughout the year students worked on the yearbook not only after school but also during study halls. Seniors who weren't members of the staff gladly gave their time and effort whenever needed. We can proudly say that the CANAL CURRENTS is the product of the combined efforts of many dedicated workers. We would like to express our appreciation to all who made the CANAL CURRENTS possible.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

The Future Homemakers were kept busy at the refreshment stand of our football field this year. Girls sold hot dogs, coffee, soda, and chips to the crowds which cheered the team. At Christmas the members collected clothing which they sent to American Indians. Members also were heard on local radio stations during National Homemakers of America Week. A "Date with a King" Banquet sponsored by the girls especially pleased the fathers of the members.

Carol Gill and Connie Borman represented Bourne as delegates to the national convention in Philadelphia. Judy Mohrmann also attended and presided at a meeting as national vice-president in charge of publicity.

CODE CLUB

"Service Above Self"

The Code Club had another successful year. The club ran dances to aid a scholarship fund. Last year a 400 dollar scholarship went to Nancy Tassinari. The club offered its services to school groups and donated to charities. A new project, the Mitten Tree, met success and boxes of mittens were sent to Korean orphans. The Cape Cod Canal Anniversary Celebration and baby-sitting on election day afforded the girls opportunities to serve the community. Throughout the year members have practiced cooperation, obediance, duty, and endeavor. In December, members, advisor, and the Rotary attended the second annual Code Club Convention.

ATHLETICS ASSOCIATION

Mr. Leo Manning
adviser

"Two students and three adults, please." "Hey, where's my coke?" The important jobs of the Athletics Association this year included selling tickets at all home football games and selling refreshments at all home basketball games. Last year, under the direction of the group adviser, Mr. Manning, this group of hard-working girls was rewarded for its worthy efforts with a trip to Boston. In the effort to keep school spirit constantly at its peak, the work of these girls proved invaluable.

Mr. Sturgis

The Future Teachers of America, an organization in its second year at Bourne High, sought to prepare its members for the careers they have chosen through various activities this year. During the Open House in the fall, the girls served as guides for lost parents; at the end of basketball season, they sponsored a faculty basketball game to raise money for their scholarship fund. Seeking to gain some teaching experience, the girls supervised elementary classes at the Peebles School and various freshman classes here at Bourne.

Freshman elections were held in January giving the student council 20 members. The group elected its officers early in the year and attended the fall convention of Southeastern Massachusetts Association of Student Councils in Norwell, Massachusetts. There Malcolm Kiniry presided as vice-president. He was elected to this office at the 1964 spring convention. The members attended another spring convention this year.

The Student Council also included in its activities the awarding of Honor Passes and sponsoring a powder puff football game.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

With Mrs. Alice Tyson as adviser the James F. Peebles Chapter of the National Honor Society completed another successful and busy year following the four basic qualities required of each member—character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Nineteen members of the class of 1965 were inducted in the Spring of 1964 ceremony. Five more members were added in December 1964. The Honor Society sponsored the first dance of the year featuring three musical groups. Funds needed to meet the costs of the inductions were raised by selling stationery, "mums," and paperback books.

HONOR SOCIETY SPONSORS HOMECOMING 1964

An undefeated football season made this year's Homecoming Dance especially gay. The hall was draped with purple and white streamers. A throne was attractively decorated for the Queen, Nancy Yates. The members of her court were Mary Sweeney, Nancy Cameron, Barbara Dunlap, Barbara Herndon, and Eve Walker. The Honor Society presented the girls with bouquets of flowers. Coaches and their wives attended as did many Bourne alumni. The Rivieras provided the entertainment and refreshments were supplied by Honor Society members.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

The French Club elected its officers before school ended in 64. In the fall the officers met their new advisor, Miss Carol Neiter, and set to work with her to organize the club and plan activities for the year. Miss Neiter's trip to France provided the club with first-hand information about life in that country. The look into French living was extended through the club's attempts at French cooking and the singing of French songs. The members heard many interesting speakers during the year. The year also provided the members with new French Club pins.

The Latin Club was organized this year by Mr. James Brogioli. The club was formed to give the students a lively interest in what is now considered to be a "dead" language. The activities of the Club were few, since the members spent most of their time laying a strong foundation with hopes that next year's club will increase it's membership and become one of the most active clubs of the school.

SCIENCE CLUB

Mr. Sturgis
Advisor

The Science Club under the direction of Mr. Merwin Sturgis, is another new club at Bourne this year. Members had their own "pet projects", such as rock analysis, or density-displacement computations, which they did at their weekly meetings. Although membership in this year's club was small, the members have hopes of promoting interest in it and becoming a larger organization in the years to come.

ART

This year Mrs. Walker's art classes discovered a new and fascinating world of art. Student enthusiasm was revealed in the expressive styles of their creations. Plaster masks, mosaic glass, paper flower arrangements, and portraits (with color and emotion) were created by the students. Modern art paintings that expressed the mood of the artist were proudly displayed in the office foyer for students to see and enjoy. The art department enjoyed a productive and interesting year.

SHAWME BAND

Under the able direction of Mr. Frazier the Shawme Band has had another very successful year. As well as adding a great deal of spirit and color to the football games the band has represented BHS at Boston University for Band Day and at various parades in the Cape area as well as a parade in Fitchburg, Mass.

The school spirit of the band was shown when it played host at a banquet for the undefeated football team. The band ended another impressive season at the annual Spring Concert.

Bourne High School chorus

CHORUS

Another successful year has passed for the Bourne High School chorus under the direction of Mr. Frazier accompanied by Mrs. Ostenfeld. The chorus participated in such events as Honor Society Inductions, the annual Spring Concert, and graduation exercises. The chorus was also represented in the New England Music Festival by four members.

Mr. Robert Frazier

LIBRARIANS

"Now, girls, I want you to learn the alphabet, backwards and forwards, from A to B."

The student librarians add greatly to the efficiency of our school library. Under the supervision of Mrs. Mayhew, the girls assist in the daily management of the desk. They check books in and out and shelve returned volumes. Several of the girls have been allowed to assist in typing book and catalogue cards.

"Gee, Donna, I don't think they have books about boys listed in here."

The girls all help in preparation of new books by putting on the appropriate covers, stamping the books, and preparing the necessary cards. The librarians also prepare magazines and daily newspapers for use. Mrs. Mayhew feels that these girls are to be especially commended for their dependability, willingness to work, and willingness to learn.

UNITED NATIONS CLUB

Mr. Sharp and the newly organized United Nations Club.

The U.N. Club, which was organized this year by the social studies department, gives students the opportunity to study the construction and functions of the organization which is often misunderstood. The club teaches its members to discover for themselves the viewpoints of countries across the globe in situations of international concern. To teach this lesson the club has been modeled after a debating team. Under the direction of Mr. Theodore Sharp, members took part in two debates with clubs in the area. Members also visited the U.N. in the Spring.

FACULTY STUDENT SECRETARIES

The faculty student secretaries, who volunteer their services, perform many time-saving services for our heavily burdened teachers. These girls type personal letters, term papers, manuscripts, midterm examinations, and other tests. These services benefit the secretaries, as well as the teachers, since the girls are receiving valuable work experience.

MAJORETTES

Under the leadership of head majorette, Jeanne Morway, the Bourne High majorettes took part in pep rallies and football games to help build school spirit for the undefeated Bourne team. The majorettes in their attractive new uniforms performed their original routines during half time and added color and entertainment to the events. Many parades on various holidays were also made complete by the precision performances of these nine girls.

The Drama Club, under the direction of its capable adviser, Mr. Stinson, was somewhat hindered this year in its attempt to present a fall production. However, thanks to the hard work of the adviser and officers, the club became coordinated this spring and plans were made for the presentation of the traditional senior play. Hopes were high for the success of this play since the dramatic capabilities of the Class of '65 were outstanding. The persistence of the talented seniors was culminated in a rewarding opening night.

Success . . . a great story lies in the success of our unparalleled athletic teams. Our teams managed to compile victory after victory along their road to success. Our football and basketball teams were recognized as among the best in the state, not to mention our track, baseball, golf, hockey, and girls basketball teams.

Teamwork and coaching provided all Bourne fans with excitement and thrills through all of the seasons. "SUCCESS that's the way we spell success," in sports.

FOOTBALL

Early in September Coach Russell Burns and his staff assembled a veteran team and looked forward to the upcoming season. A jamboree and nine games later the greatest football squad in B.H.S. history emerged as undeafeated, untied Tri-County champions.

After a spectacular unveiling at the annual pre-season jamboree at Falmouth, the Canalmen opened their season at Somerset. Junior halfbacks Manny Britto and Gary Harding, soon to be labeled "the touchdown twins," scored five touchdowns as the Canalmen triumphed 30-0, giving notice that they were the team to beat in the Tri-County.

The Bourne ground attack bogged down against Falmouth, but Donn Dunlap led a tremendous passing attack, throwing for three touchdowns and giving Bourne its first victory over the Clippers since 1957, 20-0. Jeff Futch and Norm Johnson also excelled both offensively and defensively for the Burnsmen.

Non-League opponent King Phillip came to Bourne the following Saturday and received its worse beating of the year. Gary Harding scored two touchdowns and Jeff Futch, Manny Britto, and Barry Madden also accounted for TD's as the Canalmen won, 41-6.

Old Rochester next visited the rampaging purple wave, and they too watched in awe as Bourne's powerful attack overwhelmed the Bulldogs, 32-0. Britto and Harding once more led the free scoring Canalmen offense.

Travelling to D-Y, the Canalmen received a temporary set-back when they lost the services of star halfback Britto for most of the game. The running of Harding and a spectacular pass play from Dunlap to Madden, however, combined to hand the regionals a 26-0 defeat.

The Canalmen then journeyed to Barnstable and, playing what might have been their best game of the season, overpowered the Raiders 35-0 for six straight. Britto and Harding raised their scoring totals to 68 and 56 points respectively as the duo accounted for 32 of the 35 points. Jeff Futch played his usual great game at end as the purple wave registered their third consecutive shutout.

As football fever in the town reached new heights, The Canalmen hosted Case High of Swansea. The Cardinals went the way of six previous Bourne opponents, absorbing a 34-6 beating at the hands of Britto, Harding, Dunlap, Futch, and company.

A fired-up Dighton-Rehoboth "11" held the Canalmen scoreless for three periods before succumbing 7-0. One of the largest crowds ever at Jackson Memorial Field heaved a roar as the workhorse Manny Britto slammed across the goal line for a forth period touchdown. Jerry Czarnetski and Henry Gould played outstandingly for the purple wave.

Bourne's eight straight victories set the stage for the Thanksgiving day game at Wareham. The Vikings, unbeaten in league competition, had not lost to the Canalmen for 12 years, and were hungry for yet another victory. Excitement at Bourne High School reached a new peak, and on the day before the game the student body, inspired by the senior class, participated in what is called by most the best and the loudest rally in the history of the school. On Turkey day the two fired-up teams squared off before a capacity crowd at the Vikings' home field.

Despite a strong Bourne edge in the statistics of the first half, the game was scoreless at the end of two periods. In the third period Gary Harding intercepted a Viking pass and raced 60 yards for a Bourne TD. Jeff "the Toe" Futch added a fourth quarter field goal for a 9-0 margin, and the Canalmen had their perfect season.

Manny Britto and Gary Harding totaled 88 and 76 points and led the Tri-County in scoring as the Bourne offense totaled a school record of 234 points. Bourne allowed the fewest points of any team in Eastern Massachusetts—18. In the '64 season the Canalmen, under the guidance of Coach Burns, assumed a new role—that of champions.

ALL CAPE SELECTIONS

At the close of the season coaches of the Cape teams met to choose a "dream team" for the peninsula. Coaches of the Tri-County teams met a few weeks later to choose a similar All Star team for that league. Bourne gridders dominated the selections on both teams, placing seven players on the All Cape squad and six on the Tri-County All Stars. Jeff Futch, Gary Harding, Manny Britto, Dave Dunaway, Henry Gould, and Norm Johnson were named to both squads, "Dizzy" Dunlap was chosen as quarterback on the All Cape Squad and Gerry Czarnetzki was Bourne's sole representative on the second team.

Coach Dick Hopwood's freshman crop this season proved to be a talented one, as they compiled 3 wins and 2 ties while losing a single contest, a hard fought battle with a tough Barnstable team. One of the victories of the "frosh" was a rare 2-0 decision over D-Y.

Randy Futch, Bob Babineaux, Greg Page, Jamie Gandolfi, David Goff, Bill Phaneuf, and Dan McGuinn were among those playing an important part in the '64 season. Next year as sophomores they will be welcome additions to the varsity and J.V. squads.

Extending the momentum of an undefeated football season, Bourne High's Cagers swept to the Class C championship in the Bay State Tournament, amassing a creditable 16-7 season record.

Faced with an overall lack of height, Coach Lindberg's charges resorted to an aggressive style of ball with a fast-moving offense and a tenacious, hustling defense. The first part of the season found Bourne on top in 5 out of 8 league games, with additional wins over Sacred Heart and Wareham, and a one-point loss to Old Rochester in non-conference play.

As the season entered its final stages, the Canalmen found themselves in a "must" situation of needing seven wins in the last eight games to qualify for the Tech Tourney. This pressure, plus the tightness of the race in the well-balanced Cape Cod League led to tense, well-played, action-packed games well appreciated by the home town fans.

High scorers for some individual games throughout the season were Mike Cahoon with 20 against D-Y and 20 against Provincetown; Jim Prete with 20 against Falmouth; Manny Britto with 24 against Barnstable; Mal Kiniry with 23 against Provincetown and 22 against Sandwich.

A heartbreaking loss to Nauset dropped the team one game below the Tech, but the league record of 11-5 was good for a third place finish in the Cape Cod loop. Bourne, after being eliminated from the Principals' Tournament by Harwick, then regrouped its forces, practiced harder than ever and started their journey to the Class C crown.

First step was an impressive 59-37 victory over St. Mary's, which saw the return of the injured and long-absent Gary Harding. Returning to the SMTI gym, the Canalmen used a strong second half to eliminate East Bridgewater 65-53 behind the rebounding and scoring of Mal "Bird" Kiniry, who was high man for the night with 24 points. In the finale against a tall North Reading team, played in the gymnasium at Northeastern University, all five starters hit double figures to contribute to the 75-63 win: Mike Cahoon (17), Mal Kiniry (16), Bill Ehmann (15), Gary Harding (14), and Manny Britto (13).

Named to the All-Tourney Class C squad were Kiniry, Britto, and Harding. These three also led the scoring in the 3-game series with Kiniry averaging 17.3; Britto, 11.7; and Harding, 11.3 per game.

Bourne's J.V. team posted another winning season this year as the underclassmen romped to a 14-5 record. The only losses came at the hands of Provincetown (2), Old Rochester, D-Y, and Barnstable.

The high scoring efforts of Tom Garvey, Jim Grove, and Bob Iwaszko were balanced by the steady play of Tom Sanford, Dwight Bowman, Jim Newell, and Joe Goulart. Three players—Sanford, Garvey, and Iwaszko—had games in which they scored 20 points or more. Bourne fans will be anxiously awaiting the appearance of these cagers on the varsity squad next season.

The Freshman basketball team experienced a dismal season during the '64-65 campaign, failing to win a single game. Coach William Homan underwent many moments of frustration as the "Frosh" lost game after game. Coach Homan cited Neil Garvey, a guard who led the team in rebounding, as the most valuable man on the club. Rich Johnson, Pat Sweeney, Jack Cunningham, and Greg Page also performed valuable tasks for the "junior" canalmen. Although playing against much taller opponents, they exhibited the hustle and desire which will be of use to the Junior Varsity next season.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The B.H.S. girls' team suffered a disasterous season this winter, posting a 1-12 season. The J.V. squad fared even less successfully, as they failed to win a single game.

The one bright spot in the girls' season was a 27-14 victory over the Harwich team which had defeated them 34-16 earlier in the season. Dianne McKenzie scored 12 points to lead the Barbara Kehew-coached hoopsters to their only win of the season. Also starring for the Canal girls were "Mag" McCahil, Judy Kaimi, and Mary Jo Butler.

Before the Harwich game the girls had lost 8 games, and after the upset victory they lost 4 more. Nevetheless, Miss Kehew did a good job as a rookie coach, although she couldn't improve the girls' traditionally poor record.

PEPPY B.H.S. . .

After being chosen late last spring, the new cheering squad attended a conference at Springfield College where they learned a sharp new style of cheering. The cheerleaders perfected this new style through many hours of practice during the summer vacation, and returned to school in the fall a highly precisioned squad. Under the leadership of veteran Mary Sweeney and co-captain Anne Goulart, the girls worked unceasingly during the football season to promote school spirit by making posters and planning pep rallies. At the end of the season each of the cheerleaders was presented with a bracelet at the football banquet honoring the champion team. The cheerleaders' work was not finished, though, for hours of practicing, making posters, and planning pep rallies for the basketball season followed just days after the football season ended. Clad in their basketball uniforms, the vivacious squad lead the student body in support of another championship team.

Success . . . Every day in many ways the students of Bourne High experience the happiness of success—whether they found this satisfaction in the decorating of a beautiful throne for the Queen of the Oriental Gardens, or in the professional presentation of the senior play, or in an ordinary every day occurrence such as passing an exam or receiving an A . . . always they labored towards success.

"Oriental Gardens" was the exotic motif of the Junior Prom of 1964. Pink crepe paper and flowers adorned the walls, Japanese lanterns and windchimes hung from the ceiling, and a giant lotus blossom was the throne of the queen. The center of attraction was a red wooden bridge that crossed a pool of water covered with lilies. The couples danced to the music of a five piece combo.

The highlight of the evening was the announcement of the court—Nancy Cameron, Anne Goulart, Marcy Myers, and Nancy Yates—and the crowning of the queen—Mary Sweeney.

Anne Goulart, Pat Crowley, Jeanne Morway, Eileen Clinton, Dana Ricker, and Marcy Myers were the committee chairmen of decorations, entertainment, refreshment, advertising, tickets, and clean-up.

I, C. Lloyd Pye, leave my body to Mr. Coulter.

I, Pat Queenan, leave Dickie to Betty-Ann Long.

I, Cheryl Reed, leave to Debbie DeChane all my used bubble gum stuck under my desk in shorthand class.

I, Marcie Reiff, leave my imagination to anyone who will use it wisely . . . like I did.

I, Judy Reynolds, leave Nancy Cunningham Camp Wampanoag.

I, Dana Ricker, leave each student and every teacher the ability to contact each other.

I, John Riha, leave to my brother my football locker and Mr. Lindberg.

I, Debbie Ridout, leave AH for AH.

I, David C. Roarke, leave to some deserving member of the 1966 golf team my great putting ability.

I, David Robinson, leave my nominating speech for Barry Goldwater to Mr. Read.

I, David Robertson, leave to any underclassman my below fifty average for anyone who wants to stay here 5 or 6 years.

I, Jack Runge, leave Mr. Lindberg and my bad reputation to Jim Williams.

I, Sherman Schuck, leave my excellent class behavior to my brother.

I, Linda Scott, leave.

I, Carol Stockton, leave without any regrets.

I, Chris Strickland, leave Mr. Jones 2 years worth of note-takers cramp and a battered brain to add to his collection.

I, Mary Sweeney, leave my worn out cheering sneakers and megaphone to the cheerleader with the biggest feet and the loudest mouth!

I, Tim Sykes, leave my long, curly, blond hair to anyone with a crew cut—namely Jimmy Newell.

I, Mike Taylor, leave all my cheat sheets to Gary Mitchell.

I, Robert K. Taylor, leave the freshmen Mr. Lindberg and his size 13 tonsil tickler.

I, Mo Tibble, leave my twin, Denise Bashaw at last.

I, Barbara Tomlinson, leave to my brother my quiet ways.

I, Cindy Tomolonis, leave to the new freshman class a book entitled "How Not To Get Lost in Bourne High, or Don't Ask a Senior for Directions."

I, Joyce Ann Tonello, leave to Mr. Manning an incoming freshman, my sister, so they can enjoy four more crazy and talkative years.

I, George Vaught, leave my good health to Mr. Belliveau who envies it.

I, Sonita Kay Weber, leave my blushing countenance to Mr. B., but will not part with my nickname "Sonita Baby".

I, Nora Kay Wilson, leave my many travels to Gulliver.

I, Buddy Wing, leave my rolled over "Jeep" to Jeff Perry.

I, Russ Woodiwiss, leave Gary Mitchell my books and ability to pass.

I, Diane Woody, leave all my books and teachers to the underclassmen.

I, Sharyn Worcester, leave to Mr. Coulter a freshly baked batch of old moldy cookies smuggled out of the Home Ec. room in a 50 year old newspaper. (He likes antiques.)

I, Nancy Yates, leave my crutches to Gary Harding the next football star—hoping that he doesn't have to use them.

I, Richard Young, leave my most prized possession—"My Beetle Boots" to Jeff Govoni.

I, Roger Young, leave Steve Czarnetski my long distance track spikes.

I, John Ziemer, leave Mr. Omerod a full supply of cracked gas bottles, guaranteed to leak.

A TYPICAL DAY . . .

Seniors studying for the big game.

Boy! will I be glad when April 15th rolls around.

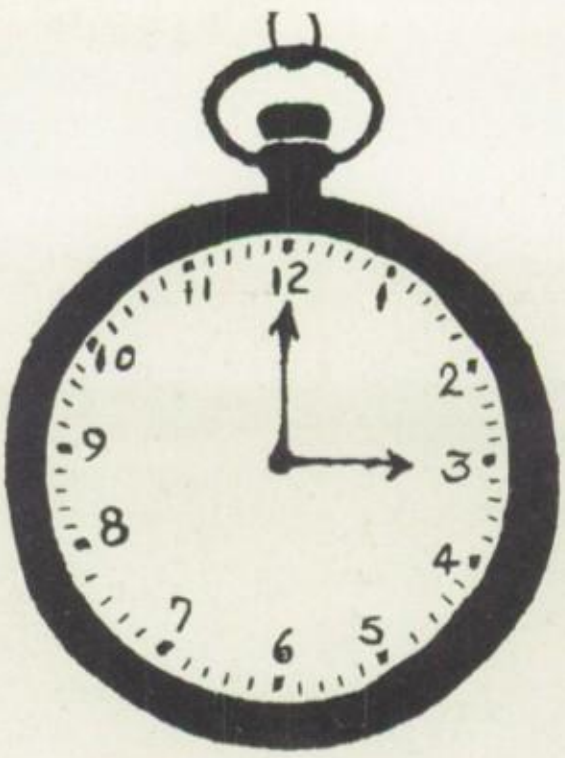
Pilot to control tower, pilot to control tower.

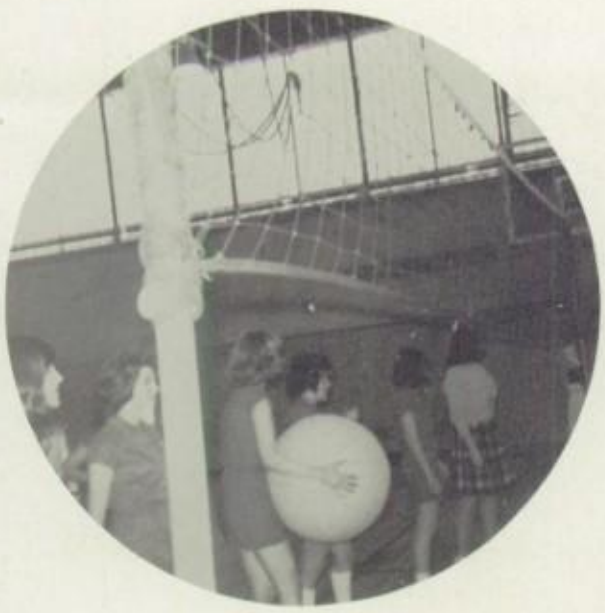
And then, POW! goes the atom.

. . . AT BOURNE HIGH

Somebody's Birthday!

Time for a coffee break.





"Well, you see, there was this chicken, and . . .."

Say, "Ahh."

Fifth graders invade the Physics Lab.

In Memoriam

In the fall of 1963 Jane V. Pratt entered Bourne High School as a sophomore. She came to the Cape because she loved the area and the people in it. Soon the people loved her. Within a short time she became a part of the activity in the school, a face found everywhere, smiling. A laughing All-American teenager with numerous friends who looked upon her as a more than pleasant addition to the student body. Now, though she is gone, the mark that she left on the hearts of all who knew her can never be removed.

Her friends can recall the little things that were characteristic of Jane. Things that were hers and hers alone. Such as the sudden tilt of her head when presented with a puzzling thought, the flash of a smile which lit sparks in her wide blue eyes, and generated a feeling of warmth. The new season saw Jane with a smart new style to her straight blonde hair, which complemented a naturally glowing complexion. She was just as at home in her powder blue semi-formal as she was in her sweatshirt and jeans. Her appearance alone revealed the bubbling personality. Jane never missed a school dance. She loved all kinds of music, from "Boys" by the Beatles to "Moon River" by Henry Mancini.

Friends remember her love of Sting Rays, a constant desire to fill the Buzzards Bay fountain with soapsuds, her attachment to her huge round-toed gym sneakers, and her favorite saying, "Gosh, Man."

Stuffed animals and a doll named Buckwheat crowded Jane's Room, a room which she had decorated in purple and white shortly after coming here. One wall was dominated by a bulletin board overflowing with souvenirs. Tickets, programs from school assemblies, photographs of her numerous friends, and notes which had been cleverly smuggled across the classroom, were tacked in an abstract pattern over the board. Jane kept a scrapbook; in it was a corsage she wore to the school dance and the news clippings of every Bourne basketball and football game.

Her life was a kaleidoscope of activity; she is remembered as a person who was always first to volunteer for an extra job. Visitors to the town meeting refreshment stand found Jane behind the counter selling cookies to supplement the Junior Prom fund; the prom was an event Jane was looking forward to. A new member of the Code Club, she was the first to volunteer to wait on tables at a Cub Scout banquet and was anxiously awaiting the opportunity to work with children through various club projects. Jane hoped to attend Peter Bent Brigham hospital school of nursing where she planned to specialize in work with children.

Jane had much to offer children that she might have worked with. For us to question why her death came at such a tender age is futile. We on earth are unable to comprehend death's purpose. We know only that her death has touched our lives and the emptiness it brought will forever remain with us.

Acknowledgements

The yearbook staff members little realized the work involved when they took on their assignments, but they spent many, many long hours to meet deadlines. Therefore, I hope those who, on seeing the finished product will give thanks to the yearbook staff, the generous patrons, and advertisers, the photographers, Mr. Vantine, and many others that made it possible.

A special thanks goes to Mrs. Kiniry who did much correcting of copy for our yearbook.

Thanks to you all for a job well done!
